IN THE KNOW

New Theme Park Thrills!

If your idea of summer fun involves roller coasters and water slides, there are plenty of new ones to try this season. Check these out:

Diagon Alley, Universal Studios Florida

Expanding on The Wizarding World of Harry Potter at Universal's Islands of Adventure, Universal Studios Florida opened Diagon Alley this summer – and for the first time you can travel between the two parks aboard the Hogwarts Express. Diagon Alley features the thrill ride Harry Potter and the Escape From Gringotts.

Cocoa Cruiser, Tea Cups and Sweet Swing, Hersheypark, Hershey, Pa.

Three new attractions came to Chocolate Town this summer: an all-ages roller coaster, a classic tea cups ride and a ride where guests sit back-to-back in bench-style seats as they swing back and forth.

Falcon's Fury, Busch Gardens Tampa, Fla.

On this 335-foot freestanding drop tower (pictured), daring riders pivot 90 degrees outward in midair to a face-down dive position, then fall toward the ground at 90 mph.

Ihu's Breakaway Falls, Aquatica by SeaWorld, Orlando, Fla.

Named after the water park's colorful gecko, this ride puts guests in launch capsules at the top of a 105-foot tower, where the floor breaks away and sends each rider down a free fall slide.

New England SkyScreamer, Six Flags New England, Agawam, Mass.

The tallest swing ride on the planet lifts people more than 400 feet in the air, swinging them around at 40 mph and offering views of the entire park and the Connecticut River.

Snake Pit, Wildwater Kingdom, Dorney Park, Allentown, Pa.

In this six-slide complex, guests can experience the 450-foot free fall of Python Plummet, the spiraling 360-degree loops of Constrictor, and high-speed drops and banked turns of the twin Boa Blasters.

Zumanjaro: Drop of Doom, Six Flags Great Adventure, Jackson, N.J.

Guests ascend 41 stories in 30 seconds before free falling toward the ground at 90 mph. Zumanjaro is built on the face of Kingda Ka with its steel coaster cars racing around the track at 128 mph.
