BABY, IT'S COLD OUTSIDE! So throw an Ugly Sweater Party INside!

Did you know December 18th is National Ugly Sweater Day? That means, dear INsiders, it's the perfect time to throw an Ugly Sweater Party!

Hideous holiday sweaters began to sprout up in the 1980s, thanks to Chevy Chase in National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation movie. Telltale signs of the ugly sweater are liberal use of red and green, comically large depictions of snowmen or reindeer, pom-poms and felt appliques.

Now, on to the party!

Here are some theme ideas to get your creative juices flowing!

Do-It-Yourself (DIY) Party

Everyone should bring their own sweater/sweatshirt to decorate and the host can supply the fun add-ons. Be clear in your invitation about what people need to bring.

Wear Your Ugliest Party

Have people make their sweaters ahead of time. Then all you have to do is laugh and take pictures.

Reindeer Sweater Party

Everyone makes a sweater with some kind of reindeer rendering. You could also choose Snowman or Elf, but the point is to compete in the same category.

Here are some supplies you'll want to have on hand:

- Big Pieces: Felt squares, colorful/textural fabric swatches, ribbon
- Add-ons: Feathers, yarn, embroidery thread, cotton balls, pom-pom balls, sequins, googly eyes, bows, ornaments, buttons, glitter/glitter glue, fabric paint, fabric markers, strings of beads, fringe cord, rope tinsel
- Assembly tools: Fabric glue, hot glue gun, sewing needles and thread, larger embroidery needles for yarn and embroidery thread, safety pins, scissors, small paint brushes

Make it a competition and vote for the best Ugly Sweater. Add categories like funniest, best theme, most fashionable, shiniest, etc. Then wear with confidence – it's all in the attitude!

get creative!
